

Psychology Lab

The psychology laboratory is used effectively for teaching and enlightening the students, by offering hands-on experience in conducting research experiments related to the field of psychology. The lab is well equipped with materials used for performing experiments; paper-pencil tests such as memory tests, intelligence tests, personality tests, to mention a few. These tools and apparatuses enable students to conduct experiments on human participants.

This lab was established in the year 2010 and the faculties incharge work with an objective of nurturing aspiring psychologists with knowledge related to various disciplines, i.e., Clinical Psychology, Child Psychology, Industrial Psychology, Cognition, and other frontier fields of Applied Psychology. Students are also taught to understand Psychological concepts by participating in on-field projects and visiting psychiatric clinics.
